

Stories with “make and do expressions”

Last summer I decided to make a journey and go to New York. I invited my friends and we started to make plans. We decided to go to an hotel, but in that hotel we would have to do all the housework, like doing the cooking or the cleaning, but we tried to go there anyway. Once we arrived, we saw a strange, little house and we didn't believe that was our hotel. Since it was evening, we decided to look for a nearer hotel so we make a request in another one for two days. There we didn't have to do the washing or the ironing, even if we had to pay more. Making a journey to New York was great, but we made a bad discovery.

Written by: Francesca Angelilli; Ana Maria Mesina

Jack is a lawyer. He made fortune at a Casino in Las Vegas last night, so he decided to make a journey to one of the most luxury resorts in Hawaii. Once there, one day, the room cleaner was making his bed when she found expensive watches and a lot of money. On another day, while she was doing the cleaning, she found other expensive things... and she stole everything! Jack was shocked and he made a choice: he left the hotel and he denounced the hotel staff. Jack did his best to win the case and he became richer than before! After that he made a promise: he would never bring expensive thing in a resort anymore!

Written by: Giada El Sayed, Nastasia Tecci

Yesterday Oronzo was doing the washing when he met his friend David. David told him that he had to make an important choice: doing the shopping or doing the ironing? Oronzo wanted to help him so he made him a request: "Can I help you with your choice?". Then he made a discovery: David was a very selfish man, so he didn't want any help. David wanted to make money by doing bussiness with Russian Mafia. David only wanted to do his duty, by killing Oronzo. When the police arrived David had to make the bed in jail. So if you want to live in peace never do the washing ... like Oronzo.

Written by: Anton Carlo; Matino

Last summer I made a journey. I made a reservation in a hotel in Greece where there was a woman who did the housework. I didn't do the cooking because I always ate at restaurants. One day, while I was swimming, I met a tourist and I made friends with him. With my friend I made up my mind to do an excursion. We went to visit Athen and we bought a souvenir. At the end of the holidays we made a promise: We will go together to another country."

Written by: Foggia Sofia and Martin Abdalla.

Last week we made a choice: to make a journey. Therefore, in order to do business, we made a reservation earlier. We lived together, so before leaving home, we did the housework. After we did the cleaning we made a journey to Los Angeles, to a famous hotel in the city center. When the holiday finished, we did a test about the hotel. After we made a speech, we did our best, but the permanence wasn't so beautiful.

Written by: Marco Bernini & Riccardo Carmignotto

Meddie every day does a favour to her mother, as doing the cleaning or doing the washing. Every Monday she does her duty, does the washing up while only on Fridays she makes her bed. Today she is doing a test at school and after school she will make arrangements for her best friend's party for which she made a request to her best friend's mother: "Sorry, Can I make a reservation at Gran Plaza Resturant for her daughter's dinner party?" The mother said: "Yeah you can !" Therefore today Meddie is making a party for her friend!

Written by: Sofia Cane